DYW Weekly Bulletin!

Career in the Army or Navy?

If the Army/Navy is something you are thinking about, there are opportunities for you to join live webinars and find out if it is for you!

Both have lots of different job roles and the webinars will give you an opportunity to hear first hand experiences of what a career could be like!

You will also be given the opportunity to ask questions!

Please email Miss Hendrie ASAP for information on how to register for this Opportunity.

Software Engineering

If this is a pathway you are considering, you are being offered the opportunity to attend an online event which gives you more information about one possible route- a Graduate Apprenticeship. This pathway gives you the opportunity to study and earn money/gain experience. This particular event focusses on what studying Software Engineering at the University of Glasgow is like. You will also hear from companies offering this opportunity including Barclays and the BBC!

This is a great way to hear more about this pathway- email for more info!

Law

If you are considering a career in Law, Burness Paull are hosting an online work experience programme throughout a week in March. Law work experience can be hard to find and so this is an amazing opportunity! This experience will require you to apply by next week- it is therefore very important, if interested, you email Miss Hendrie this week for more info!

KPMG!

KPMG is offering a virtual work experience opportunity for those of you interested in a variety of fields. There are lots of career opportunities at KPMG including in Audit, Tax & Legal, Consulting, Deal Advisory, Technology & Engineering and Business Services. The event will be taking place next week (2nd March) online- it is important that if you are interested that you register as soon as possible this week- email for more info!

Young Professionals Apprenticeships

Young Professionals are the organisation who have created many of the opportunities you see here each week. They have brought together 7 of their biggest employers to host an event next week to tell you more about the various apprenticeships these employers will be offering this year. The event is available for all! Email to register!
