S5/6 Pupils who wish to study medicine/medical/biological science

The Institute for Medical Sciences at Aberdeen are organising a Medical Science lecture for school pupils in S5/6 who aim to study Medicine, Medical or Biological Science at university.

The lecture will be delivered by Prof Dame Sue Black, Baroness Black of Strome, who will talk about how we are all very familiar with the world of forensic science as it is portrayed on television and in popular fiction – but what is it really like to be a forensic expert witness? Prof Black is the UK's most experienced forensic anthropologist who led on war crimes investigations in Kosovo, advises Governments and has worked for virtually all police forces in the UK and many overseas. She will talk about the journey of her career and how that has changed for those who want to pursue similar interests today. She will discuss the relationship between science, criminal investigation and the court room and focus a spotlight on the reality of this incredibly challenging but worthwhile line of work. It will address the reality of what it means to be a modern-day forensic scientist.

The lecture will take place online on Thursday 8th December. If you would like to attend please speak to Mrs Dawson by Friday 18th November to secure your place!
